

AUSTRALASIAN DISPUTE RESOLUTION JOURNAL

Volume 14, Number 2

May 2003

CASE NOTES

DRAFTING DISPUTE RESOLUTION CLAUSES WITH CERTAINTY

In this edition's casenotes we look at two recent decisions from the same court and by the same judge that presided over the celebrated decision in 1999 of *Aiton Australia Pty Limited v Transfield Pty Limited*85

ARTICLES

MEDIATION STRATEGIES FOR RESOLVING COMMUNITY DISPUTES IN AN OUTBACK AUSTRALIAN TOWN: AN INTERACTIVE CLASS EXERCISE USING STIMULI OF NEWSPAPER REPORTS OF COMMUNITY DISTURBANCES

Mary R Power

This paper describes a conflict resolution classroom training exercise for unpacking complex community disputes among Aboriginal residents of an outback Australian town.94

"HEALING THROUGH YARNING": TRAINING ISSUES IN AN INDIGENOUS FAMILY MEDIATION PROGRAM

Linda Fisher

This paper details the development of the training program for ATSIFAM, the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Family Mediation Program, its aims and content, the delivery of the training, and issues that arose during the training.105

THE MEANING OF SUCCESS IN PUBLIC POLICY DISPUTE INTERVENTIONS

Jane Elix

In the environmental area, some public policy conflicts have been with us for many years. Current government policy emphasises the benefits of building partnerships and collaborative problem solving. The role of facilitators and mediators has the potential to become increasingly important to such processes. But how will success be measured in these endeavours?113

A MEDIATOR'S NOTEBOOK: THE MEDIATION CONFERENCE

Michael Redfern

This article continues to describe mediation matters from the point of view of the mediator.124

LANGUAGE, POWER AND MEDIATION

Dale Bagshaw

This paper explores the implications of poststructuralist ideas for the practice of mediation, with a particular emphasis on the links between power and knowledge and language as discourse.130

EVALUATING ENVIRONMENTAL DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Jeanie McKillop, Ron Neumann, Neil Sipe and Jeff Giddings

This paper examines two questions related to EDR. First, has any evaluation of EDR been undertaken in Australia? Second, what factors need to be considered when designing an evaluation process? A proposed model for EDR evaluation is provided along with some methodological suggestions.142

TO WHAT DEGREE OF CERTAINTY MUST A DISPUTE RESOLUTION CLAUSE BE DRAFTED?

David Spencer

Two recent cases have once again drawn attention to the problem of drafting enforceable dispute resolution clauses in contracts. This paper will review the case law and suggest a number of strategies for satisfying the legal requirements of the enforceability of dispute resolution clauses.153