Age, working hours and creating safe working environments for young workers in Queensland – Dr Kristy Richardson

On 1 July 2006 the Child Employment Act 2006 (Qld) came into operation. The purpose of the Act is to safeguard children working in Queensland through legislative provisions that seek to ensure that work does not interfere with children’s schooling, and by preventing children performing work that may be harmful to their health and safety or physical, mental, moral or social development. This article looks at the legislative provisions relating to children’s working hours and the creation of occupationally safe working environments for children. It examines and comments upon the risk management approach suggested by the Queensland Government as appropriate for creating safe working environments for children. 76
