

WORKPLACE REVIEW

Volume 1, Number 3

December 2010

| | |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| EDITORIAL | 85 |
| FOCUS ON: VICTORIA | |
| Steven Moore considers two Supreme Court of Victoria cases involving the summary dismissal of senior employees | 87 |
| ARTICLES | |
| Australia's most energetic enforcement agency? – Neil Napper | |
| This article discusses several interesting developments relating to Fair Work Ombudsman prosecutions and notes that employers who underpay employees do so at their peril. | 88 |
| Fair Work Australia: A report card – Neil Napper | |
| The Fair Work Act 2009 (Cth) has been operating in full since 1 January 2010. A number of important decisions by Fair Work Australia point the way for practitioners seeking guidance on how new laws are operating. This article looks at some of the more important decisions and their implications. | 90 |
| Federal election journey: In three parts – Anthony Forsyth | |
| This article chronicles industrial relations developments before and after the August federal election, noting that it is unlikely that the re-elected Labor government will change the current Fair Work system in any major way even though several employer associations have called for changes since the election. | 95 |
| Piercing the corporate veil: The pursuit of employee entitlements – Ian Latham | |
| This article discusses briefly the law relating to the recovery of employee entitlements where a company is put into administration, then liquidated but resurrects itself later as another entity. It finds that legislative reform in this area is long overdue. | 98 |
| FEATURE ARTICLE | |
| Show me the money: Damages awarded in sexual harassment matters – Elizabeth Raper | |
| In the light of recent and much publicised sexual harassment matters, this article considers the approach taken by courts in assessing general, aggravated and punitive damages for sexual discrimination matters under the human rights legislation. | 100 |
| INTERVIEW | |
| Politics, people and place: What inspired Professor Andrew Stewart towards a career in industrial relations – and a new life in Australia – by Azadeh Khalilizadeh | |
| | 104 |

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| JEFF PHILLIPS ON THE CASE | |
| Jeffrey Phillips considers Spanky Banky's employment tribunal | 108 |
| STANDPOINTS | |
| Working turtles: Regulation of personal relationships in the workplace – Dayan Goodsir Cullen | 110 |
| WORK HEALTH AND SAFETY | |
| Is it time to rethink OHS harmonisation? – Michael Tooma | 112 |
| DISCRIMINATION | |
| Sexual harassment and the David Jones saga – Jacquie Seemann and Claire Bateman | 115 |
| Progress on changes to Sex and Age Discrimination Acts – Jacquie Seemann and Claire Bateman | 116 |
| Federal consultation: Sexual orientation and sex/gender identity – Jacquie Seemann and Claire Bateman | 117 |
| TRIBUTE | |
| Ronald Joseph Baragry – Justice Roger Boland | 119 |
| THE LAST WORD ... | |
| Jeffrey Phillips compares today's workplace with the workplace of yesteryear and looks at recent movements and developments in the legal world | 121 |
| DIARY | 123 |
| INDEX | 124 |