Part 3 — Pages 288-389

CONTRACT

- Principles of contractual interpretation — Where parties to a long term contract for the supply and sale of electricity from a power station — Where sophisticated commercial parties — Where defined term “Station Annual Forecast” for electricity production — Where contract permits defined term to bare different meaning if context requires — Whether defined term only incorporates information necessary for the purpose of the particular clause — Whether primary judge erred in failing to apply the orthodox approach of inserting the full meaning given to the defined term into the operative clause of the contract.
- CS Energy Limited v GPS Power Pty Limited & Ors* 288
- Principles of contractual interpretation — Whether “Station Annual Forecast” includes upper and lower electricity estimates — Where the respondents conceded that the reference to “Station Annual Forecast” in a related clause includes the upper and lower estimates — Where concession not referred to by primary judge when dealing with the relevant clause — Whether the primary judge erred in failing to refer to the concession when construing the relevant clause.
- CS Energy Limited v GPS Power Pty Limited & Ors* 288

ENERGY

- Electricity supplied from coal fired power station — Long-term supply contract for supply and sale of electricity — Electricity supplied to meet needs of downstream Aluminium Smelter — Coal stockpiles required to be maintained by respondents within upper and lower limits to meet electricity needs for Smelter — Where contract provided for forecasts to meet electricity demand — Where monthly, annual and long term energy forecasts — Where Appellant can sell excess electricity for profit — Where appellant claimed that failure to maintain coal according to upper limit forecasts resulted in lost trading profits — Where declaration sought that upper forecast was required to be considered in relevant contractual provision.
- CS Energy Limited v GPS Power Pty Limited & Ors* 288

ENERGY AND RESOURCES

- Minerals — Mineral Resources Development Act 1995 (Tas) (Act) — Where compensation payable under s 144(1) of the Act to private landholders over whose land a mining tenement is granted — Sale of mining tenement — Where application for transfer of mineral tenement pending under the Act — Where no agreement as to rate of compensation — Where rate of compensation yet to be determined by Mining Tribunal — Where application for determination of compensation made by an applicant for or a holder of a mineral tenement — Whether proposed transferee is an “applicant for a mineral tenement”.
- Gadtech Materials Pty Ltd v Magistrates Court of Tasmania* 329

ENERGY AND RESOURCES — continued

Where head contract for provision of quarrying services became impossible for contractor to perform — Where companies owned by director and senior employee of the contractor took over work — Whether this was an opportunity which the director and senior employee were required to prefer the principal's interests in; whether within the scope of their fiduciary obligations — Whether breach of duties.

Murdoch and Others v Mudgee Dolomite & Lime Pty Ltd (In Liq)
and Others 335

EQUITY

Fiduciary obligations — Scope of duty — Company's contracts to provide crushing services to a mine performed by a director's and employee's own companies without disclosure — Whether constituted a breach of duty — Whether inability of company to perform its obligations a defence — Scope of fiduciary duty determined with regard to company's actual course of conduct.

Murdoch and Others v Mudgee Dolomite & Lime Pty Ltd (In Liq)
and Others 335

Remedies for breach of fiduciary duty — Account of profits — Contracts entered into by companies controlled by director and employee in breach of fiduciary duties — Contracts incapable of rescission — Whether principles in Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co v Johnson (1938) 60 CLR 189; [1938] HCA 16 precluded account of profits — Principles inapplicable to contracts for the supply of services.

Murdoch and Others v Mudgee Dolomite & Lime Pty Ltd (In Liq)
and Others 335

Remedies for breach of fiduciary duty — Account of profits — Where principal is less than fully informed, but nonetheless "stands by" while fiduciaries continue to derive profits — Whether principal had sufficient information to make it inequitable to stand by while profits continued to be made, and thereafter to obtain an account of those profits.

Murdoch and Others v Mudgee Dolomite & Lime Pty Ltd (In Liq)
and Others 335

STATUTORY INTERPRETATION

Whether proposed transferee is an "applicant for a mineral tenement" within the meaning of s 150 of the Act — Whether proposed transferee can make an application under s 150 of the Act — Where mere hope or expectation to become tenement holder.

Gadtech Materials Pty Ltd v Magistrates Court of Tasmania 329
